PETITION TO REVIVE FOR UNAVOIDABLE DELAY

Commissioner for Patents
Mail Stop Petitions
Box 1450;
Alexandria VA 22313-1450
Sir:

In respect to the enclosed USPTO Notice mailed January 6, 2004, Applicants' Attorney has just received for the first time on January 11, 2005 the Request to File Missing Parts alleged to have been mailed 4/19/2004.

The undersigned Attorney certifies that this Document has been filed in the U.S. Post Office via Express Mail ER255904828US addressed as above to the USPTO on 20 January 2005 (37 CFR 1.10).

The Invention

This invention comprises processes for a rapid, scaleable, nuclease-free (preferably RNase free), cost effective method of nucleic acid purification comprising introduction of affinity handles into the desired (or undesired) product. No sequences are claimed, and the few sequences mentioned in the Specification are merely illustrative. Applicants claim no sequences.

Repln. Ref: 01/27/2005 MAHMED1 0023333300
DAH:200336 Name/Number:10737403

Applicants express some preference for sequences containing purines, but this is not vital (and any natural sequence does have them, as these are A and G).

The few sequences in the examples are of no special importance and are not inventive. Nonetheless, in order to expedite prosecution, a compact disc (CD) containing the few sequences in machine-readable form and a paper copy of the disc is also enclosed, together with a duplicate of each.

Applicants' Attorney certifies that the CD and the paper copy are identical with the sequence portions of the Application.

Therefore, Applicants immediately petition on grounds of Unavoidable Delay (37 CFR 1.137) and enclose: (1) Applicants Statement hereby that the entire delay was unavoidable because Applicants' Attorney only received the above-identified Notice by fax from the USPTO on January 11, 2005, thus could not reply earlier; (2) a response to the above-identified Notice; (3) Bank of America check #5242 for $1000.00 more than covering both the $250.00 petition fee and the $55.00 37 CFR 1.20(d) disclaimer fee for small entity; and (4) a PTO/SB63 terminal disclaimer of the time (to be calculated by the Examiner) that the Application was abandoned

It is respectfully urged that the Petition Fee and the Disclaimer Fee should not be charged or should be refunded because the delay was due to the Applicants never receiving the above-identified Notice. Any necessary (small entity) charges can be charged to USPTO Deposit Account 20-336 of Technology Licensing Co. LLC. Any overpayment should be credited to that Account. Correspondence may be addressed to Customer No. 26830.

The Petition Office or the Office of Initial Patent Examination is especially invited to telephone Applicants' Attorney if that would expedite prosecution of this Application.

Respectfully submitted,

Richard Coale Willson, Jr.

REPLY TO NOTICE TO COMPLY...SEQUENCES

37 CFR 1.821-1.825

Commissioner for Patents
Mail Stop Petitions
Box 1450;
Alexandria VA 22313-1450
Sir:

In respect to the enclosed USPTO Notice mailed January 6, 2004, Applicants' Attorney has just received for the first time on January 11, 2005 the Notice to Comply alleged to have been mailed 4/19/2004.

The undersigned Attorney certifies that this Document has been filed in the U.S. Post Office via Express Mail ER255904828US addressed as above to the USPTO on 20 January 2005 (37 CFR 1.10).

The Invention

This invention comprises processes for a rapid, scaleable, nuclease-free (preferably RNase free), cost effective method of nucleic acid purification comprising introduction of affinity handles into the desired (or undesired) product. No sequences are claimed, and the few sequences mentioned in the Specification are merely illustrative. Applicants presently claim no sequences. Applicants express some preference for sequences containing purines, but this is not vital (and any natural sequence does have them, as these are A and G).

The few sequences in the examples are of no special importance and are not inventive. Nonetheless, in order to expedite prosecution, a compact disc (CD) containing the few sequences in machine-readable form and a paper copy of the disc is also enclosed, together with a duplicate of each.

Applicants' Attorney certifies that the CD and the paper copy are identical with the sequence portions of the Application.

The undersigned Applicants' Attorney states that the entire delay was unavoidable because Applicants' Attorney only received the above-identified Notice by fax from the USPTO on January 11, 2005, thus could not reply earlier. The Attorney routinely docketed USPTO mail requiring response immediately upon receiving it and no such docket notations appear in the Docket ledger. Further, the Notice of Allowance was allegedly mailed on the same date (possibly in the same envelope) and that Notice is missing from the Attorney's file of this Application. In fact, the Attorney learned of the Serial Number only by the return postcard stamped by the USPTO. This has not occurred in the past five years at least.

Therefore, Applicants have immediately petitioned on grounds of Unavoidable Delay (37 CFR 1.137) and enclose: the Petition, (1) Applicants Statement hereby that the entire delay was unavoidable because Applicants' Attorney only received the above-identified Notice by fax from the USPTO on January 11, 2005, thus could not reply earlier; (2) this response to the above-identified Notice; (3) Bank of America check #5242 for $1000.00 more than covering both the $250.00 petition fee and the $55.00 37 CFR 1.20(d) disclaimer fee for small entity; and (4) a PTO/SB63 terminal disclaimer of the time (to be calculated by the Examiner) that the Application was abandoned

It is respectfully urged that the Petition Fee and the Disclaimer Fee should not be charged or should be refunded because the delay was due to the Applicants never receiving the above-identified Notice. Any necessary (small entity) charges can be charged to USPTO Deposit Account 20-336 of Technology Licensing Co. LLC. Any overpayment should be credited to that Account. Correspondence may be addressed to Customer No. 26830.

The Petition Office or the Office of Initial Patent Examination is especially invited to telephone Applicants' Attorney if that would expedite prosecution of this Application.

Respectfully submitted,

Richard Coale Willson, Jr.
